Great Old Cars

Current Market Value Appraisal

April 15, 2011

This is to acknowledge that I have analyzed the market value of a 1989 Pontiac Trans AM VIN 1G5FW2178KL245220 for Kevin Carr

After analyzing and researching the information derived, I am of the opinion that the Current Market Value is $17,900 to $18,500

General Description:	Trans Am GTA SE Turbo, 20th Anniversary
Mileage Shown:	56298
Engine:	3.8 V6 Turbo
Transmission:	Automatic
Color:	Pearl White
Interior:	Khaki Camel Cloth

Comments: Overall presentation of this car is in fine condition. The car has maintained the original factory integrity. It starts, runs and drives excellent and is in good mechanical condition. The car appears to be solid and straight. All lights, gauges, and electrical system are fully functional. The air condition blows cold. The paint is in excellent condition with some minor nicks and scratches. All trim in excellent condition. The original interior is very clean, no stains or tears in carpet, no stains or tears in seats, no cracking on dash. No excessive wear on steering wheel. The interior is in above average condition for a vehicle of this age and mileage. Glass is good all around. Tires are two years old and are in good condition.

The Current Market Value (CMV) is derived from a number of variables. Overall presentation, condition of the body, interior, frame, mechanical components, options, originality, market demand, and region in which the analysis was made. In addition, national value guides, auction data and our knowledge of comparable vehicles previously listed and sold within the Great Old Cars classifieds.

The actual selling price of a vehicle may be higher or lower than the CMV. Price is dependant upon demand and can vary by the seller's level of interest to sell the vehicle and the buyer's desire to own the vehicle.

The CMV assumes that the mechanical components and systems are in good working order unless otherwise specified.

Great Old Cars and/or the vehicle appraiser make no representations or warranties regarding the vehicle's mechanical condition, work performed prior to inspection or originality of components or parts replaced.

Statements and representations made by the owner/presenter and used in arriving at the CMV are assumed to be true. Great Old Cars and/or the appraiser are not liable for misrepresentations or false statements
